By MONTE DAYTON

The libelous smear material against STU McCLURE, GOP Board of Equalization candidate, has started seeping into Daly City.

The McClure forces are investigating and hint legal action if the source is discovered.

If you start seeing snakes in Daly City, don't hide that bottle. They're real and there's been a lot of them spotted in residential areas and sidewalks lately.

AL LOPEZ, Cleveland Indian Manager, took time out from his morning last weekend to tell local JOE SARTO that leftie DON MOSSI of Daly City is one of the hottest mound prospects to grace the major leagues in 20 years.

A loud raspberry is greeting a lot of well-known Daly City ladies upon picking up the phone receiver.

It's a plot against the PTAs, or sumpin'.

LES RITCHIE, gas man down Westlake way, scared contractors on the sewage plant last week when he walked over to the project, asked the foreman if he was sure the cement was hard enough.

"Sure it's hard enough. . . . What's the deal?"

Ditchie then flipped open his coat, sported a "Sewer Inspector" badge.

It's a bunco badge, but it had workers testing cement the rest of the day.

LOREN CHEDA of Hilltop Market this week received a shipment of flaming red smocks to be used by the clerks for the market's big frozen food promotion now in progress.

Though the garments were so brilliant handlers required smoked glasses, Cheda says they weren't bright enough.

Fire Chief ELMER KENNEDY doesn't have to go into a windy speech this fire prevention week about why people should be careful in using inflammables around the household.

All he has to do is illustrate with the incident in San Francisco this week, in which a woman was using cleaning fluid which caught fire, sent her hurtling out a several-story window in agony to her death, and the local tragedy that saw two men using gasoline in a garage lose their lives.

Had enough?

FRANK BLUM, city barrister, was ecstatic this week, and at the same time slightly embarrassed.

He fired his best 18 holes in his golfing career last weekend—a 91. It was hard to explain his 30 handicap to his golfing friend, with whom he had placed some worthwhile bets.

That beautiful FRANCES CHAPMAN who toiled up city hall way has departed her chores at the city administrator's office and is now residing in Menlo Park.

Her husband, LYNN, has been accepted for the graduate school of business at Stanford.

"I can't afford to commute to Daly City," says she. "We'll be living on my salary until he graduates."

Lynn will be awarded his master of arts degree on completion of the school.

FRANK WALSH, more popularly known as "Bow-Tie" for the sartorial confections that generally adorn his neck, was out visiting THE RECORD this week to put last-minute touches on the football program for San Francisco State, where he works as sports publicity man.

Not here more than a few minutes, he returned outside to find his car stolen.

It was found a couple blocks away shortly thereafter, restoring Walsh's faith in Mayor-Coach JOE VERDUCCHI's fair city.

Annual Dinner

Daly City employees will hold their annual dinner dance Saturday at Louven Gardens, with dining set to begin at 8 p.m.

A 3-piece orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Monday Opens Fire Prevention Week For Daly City Area

Monday marked the beginning of the observance of fire prevention week here, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy announced.

Highlighting the observance which will last through Saturday, will be a fire prevention poster contest conducted throughout the local elementary schools.

Seventh and eighth graders will vie in the poster contest, with prizes going to individual winners and to their schools.

Third through sixth graders will participate in a drawing contest, with prizes being awarded on the same basis.

Posters and drawings will be picked up at the schools on October 11 and awarding will be held Friday, October 15.

An estimated 7000 homes will be reached with literature explaining about fire prevention week.

Two weeks from now the fire department will conduct a house to house canvass to request that residents place a sticker containing phone numbers of police and fire departments on their telephones.

THE BIG PAYOFF, LOCAL VERSION, ON TAP SUNDAY

A World Series bet that began on a dare at a local Eagles meeting will be paid off Sunday as three Daly City men will push more than one-quarter ton of eight in wheelbarrows for 2 1/2 miles.

The weight will be the three winners, who picked the New York Giants to win. They are: Gus Sebastiani, 191 pounds; Bill O'Neill, 187 pounds; and John Melani, 245 pounds. The pushers will be Dell Fehl, Joe Lewkowicz Jr. and John Piorkowsky.

Each loser will push a winner in a wheelbarrow from the Central Club, 6282 Mission, to Colma, and back, a distance of about 2 1/2 miles.

If the pushers stop for many rests, Sunday's pay-off may prove expensive.

Every time a pusher stops manual transportation of the one-wheel vehicle, he'll have to buy drinks all around.

This will mark the second losing effort for Fehl, who made the same trip three years ago after putting his stock in the wrong team.

Police permit has been granted for the mammoth undertaking, and the pay-off is scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

In addition to the four wheelbarrows, a 50-vehicle cavalcade is expected to make the trip.

Fire Prevention

WHEREAS, fire has caused the loss of human life, and

WHEREAS, fire has caused great loss of property, and

WHEREAS, statistics show that nine out of ten fires are caused by carelessness,

NOW, THEREFORE, I proclaim the period October 3rd through October 9th, 1954, as Fire Prevention Week in Daly City.

I urge the residents of Daly City to join with the Fire Department in their efforts to reduce this needless waste of life and property, and I strongly recommend that every home owner make an inspection of his home to remove fire hazards where they may be present.

DAMAGES ARE SOUGHT ON COP CAR COLLISION

Lauralee Smith, 18, and her father, Irving, of 1040 O'Neil avenue, Belmont, have entered damage claims for undetermined amounts against the city of Daly City for injuries allegedly suffered when their vehicle collided with a city police car on July 23.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Knowles avenue and Junipero Serra boulevard when Sgt. Dave Hansen, rushing to another accident, collided with the Smith vehicle.

Miss Smith, in the formal complaint, charges she suffered facial and skull fractures, severe lacerations of the face and leg and a possible cerebral concussion.

The claim also asserts that the police vehicle was in a "defective condition" and was "operated in a negligent and careless manner" by Sgt. Hansen.

Miss Smith's father filed a joint complaint with the city, charging that he had incurred numerous medical and hospital expenses and other costs incidental to the injuries. He also says in the complaint that he lost the services of his daughter while she was confined to the hospital with the injuries.

The claim said that amount of damages was unknown at this time.

The city council denied both claims and referred them to City Attorney Frank Blum.

COUNCIL HOLDS BIDS ON WESTLAKE DRAIN

Bids for a concrete storm drain at Westlake park site were held over by the city council Monday night pending further discussion with the Doelger Company on the outfall point of the drain.

A total of ten sealed proposals were received on the project, which will mark the first step in actual development of a Westlake park off Lake Merced and Alemany boulevard.

Low bid, $21,520, was submitted by the M & K Corp., and was more than $11,000 below the city engineer's estimate of $33,400 for the job. Figures ranged to a high of $36,995, entered by the Doelger Corp.

The drainage facility is necessary before actual development of the park can start, since the low area is heavily flooded during the winter.

A disagreement between the city and Doelger was responsible for holding up the awarding of bids Monday.

In original plans, the city called for a straight drain that would terminate just outside city property. According to Councilman Michael De Bernardi, the Doelger firm later asked that the city route the line in a contour. At that time, De Bernardi said, Doelger agreed to tie in with the city's drain.

Monday night Doelger representative Carl Timmons asked the council if they couldn't bring the line to the end of the city property. "We don't feel we should go into your property and install our part of the drain."

Take Original Course

De Bernardi then suggested the city take its originally planned course and install the drain in a straight line to the edge of the property.

The city councilmen agreed to get together with the Doelger firm and come to some agreement on installation of the line.

It is estimated that it would cost the city an additional $4000 to carry the drain out to the limits of city property if the contour installation is used.

The city budgeted a total of $30,000 this year for work on Westlake park. The bulk of this will go towards the drainage project. It will cost an additional $27,000 to fill in the park area. This job will probably be held over until next year.

In other business Monday, the council awarded contract for electrical work on Westlake Reservoir No. 1 to Kennedy Electric Co. for $9260. There was a total of three bids for the work.

The project will include electrical facilities for pumps and booster pumps at the reservoir sand trap.

Jeff Hi Bonds Get OK; Elementary District Sets $1,486,000 Issue

$1,600,000 FOR WESTMOOR SCHOOL IS APPROVED IN ALL BUT ONE PRECINCT

In a record turnout of 2962, the Jefferson High School district's $1,600,000 bond issue for Westmoor High was approved by nearly three to one Tuesday.

A total of 2186 votes were cast for the issue, 776 against.

The voting topped by over 100 the previous mark, 2831, established in May at the trustee election.

In the face of bond issue defeats throughout the county this year, Superintendent Stanford Hannah termed the balloting "a wonderful showing and a tribute to the people who worked so hard for the bond issue's passage."

Since there are $800,000 worth of district bonds still on hand, Tuesday's bonds will not be issued until the need arises, Hannah said.

Votes will be officially canvassed Tuesday by the county superintendent's office.

In the election, the issue met defeat in only one precinct, Adobe in Sharp Park, while the pro and con votes were deadlocked in another Coastside precinct, Rockaway Fire Hall, at 16 apiece.

Largest majority was carried at the S. R. Johns residence, where 127 voted for the bonds, only eight against.

Revised Muni Bus Sked Giving Little Relief -- Anderson

Revenue on the No. 56 and 76 San Francisco municipal buses under the revised zone and fare program "is not bringing as much relief as we expected," Vern Anderson, San Francisco superintendent of traffic, told THE RECORD today.

Two months ago the San Francisco board of supervisors approved a six-months trial bus plan for Daly City that was expected to minimize San Francisco's annual operating costs in San Mateo.

With four months remaining today on the trial program, Anderson said the No. 76 (Broadmoor) was doing "fairly well," while the No. 56 (Cemeteries) was "disappointing."

Anderson explained that the new route of the Broadmoor line is almost covering operating costs but the No. 56 route was bringing in little revenue. Transfer privileges from Mission street in Daly City to the cemeteries were eliminated under the new plan. It was hoped that charging of an additional 15 cent fare would bring in enough new revenue to offset losses on the No. 76.

According to Anderson, many of the former No. 56 riders are now using Greyhound lines to avoid the extra 15-cent charge.

Anderson indicated he had a "definite recommendation" to make on the status of transportation.

Annex Resolution Says Builders Must Provide Facilities

A resolution that may prove the answer to mounting costs of providing city facilities for new residential developments was passed by the city council Monday night.

The resolution stipulates that in future annexations, the sub-divider or builder must provide recreation facilities, land other municipal facilities deemed necessary by the council.

The planning commission shall recommend the amount of facilities should be provided by the developers.

The new resolution will get its first application in the coming annexation of 440 acres of Doelger land. The council is currently working on the agreement with Doelger on amount of facilities to be provided.

CAR "BOOSTERS" GET $500 HAUL HERE MONDAY

Car "boosters" looted two parked vehicles of an estimated $500 here early Sunday evening.

Breaking the side wing, they entered a car parked at 43 Wilson street, belonging to Edward Coleman, 38 DeLong street, San Francisco, taking some $95 worth of clothing, blankets and knitting equipment.

Coleman said he thought that theft occurred between 6 and 8:45 p.m., while he was visiting friends at the Wilson street address.

At about the same time officers reported a second "boost" at 274 Evergreen avenue.

Shirley Davis, 527 Amazon street, San Francisco, reported that she and her husband were moving their belongings from the Evergreen address to their own home.

DECEMBER 7 IS DATE FOR NEXT ELECTION

Notice of a $1,486,000 bond election was filed with the county clerk's office today (Friday) by the Jefferson Elementary School district, THE RECORD learned.

The issue will come up for vote December 7, 1954.

Announcement of the amount to be sought by the district follows by only three days the passage of a $1,600,000 bond issue by Jefferson High School district voters.

According to district trustees only $328,000 of the bonds will be sold during the current fiscal year.

The $1,486,000, it is hoped, will finance a five-year building program for the district which may see the end of school construction.

On succeeding years, it is estimated, the following amount of the bonds will be sold: $187,000; $210,000; $230,000; $230,000; $270,000.

The five-year program will be completed with the fiscal year 1959-60.

With the sale of $328,000 in bonds this year the district will be bonded to its legal five per cent capacity, entitling it to a $917,000 loan from the state.

This money will go towards construction of the $750,000 Benjamin Franklin school project, Vista Grande and Vista Del Mar.

Time of completion for the project, which will extend Brunswick street into Hillside boulevard and Mission, is scheduled for 60 working days under contract.

Wilson Charges DC 'Robbed' On Garage Painting Project

Councilman Del Wilson charged Monday night that the city was getting "robbed" in paying more than $700 for painting of the city garage.

City Administrator Dan Anderson said that he had asked for several estimates on the job, and that $718 was the lowest figure submitted.

"It's ridiculous," said Wilson, "I've been in the painting business a long time and I know that job shouldn't cost more than $350."

Anderson said he would check further on the matter and if the price was too far out of line would refuse to make payment.

Pearlman and Geiger Co. is contractor on the job.

PETROCCHI ASKS DANCE HALL LAW CHANGE

In a letter to the city council Monday, Police Chief Roland Petrocchi recommended a change in the dance hall ordinance which would give the city tighter control over the establishments.

Councilman Del Wilson suggested that a restrictive ordinance such as proposed might have a bad effect on dances held by local service organizations. City Attorney Frank Blum said the legislation could be worded to distinguish between this type function and regular dance halls.

Mayor Joseph Verducci said the chief's proposal was a good idea, and recommended the chief, city attorney and police commission get together to draft such an ordinance.

The chief's proposal is believed to have risen out of the recent activity at the Hilltop Lodge dance hall.

The Law, En Masse, Descends On Hilltop

Daly City's Hilltop Lodge became a rendezvous of law enforcement agencies Friday night as the United States Senate crime investigating committee, state bureau of narcotics, board of equalization and two local police officers descended on the alleged "hop-head" hangout and made two arrests.

The "haul" was less significant than the August 22 round-up of two narcotics users at the tavern, as only two arrests were made; one, a minor charged with drinking, and the other the waitress who made the sale.

Making Rounds
Everett Carl Graves, 1163 Carlton street, Menlo Park, was picked up at 11:45 p.m., when the investigators, making a round of San Francisco and north peninsula night spots, found him drinking a beer at the Lodge.

Graves showed the officers a driver's license belonging to a youth in Louisiana.

Graves appeared in municipal court Monday, pleading guilty to the drinking charge. He was sentenced to 15 days in the county jail, suspended on condition he pay a $100 fine and stay out of Daly City for six months.

Waitress arrested was Mrs. Desiree Burke, 44, of 417 Irvington street, who was booked for selling liquor to a minor. Police said she admitted selling a drink to the juvenile.

Mrs. Burke appeared in municipal court yesterday (Thursday) and pled not guilty to the charge. Jury trial was set for November 16 before Judge Thomas L. Bocci.

Arresting officers were August Conci, Richard Brohman, Daly City police; Louis Noel, George Ohlson, state bureau of narcotics; Frank Ryan, board of equalization; and Tom Sullivan, senate crime committee investigator.

More Precarious

As a result of Friday's probe, the Hilltop Lodge's position has been made even more precarious with the state board of equalization.

The board is already mapping evidence to present at a hearing seeking revocation of the establishment's license.

Thomas Gosland, supervising liquor control officer for San Mateo county, has filed an accusation charging the Lodge with serving drinks to the 19-year-old.

The investigator, serving with the Senate group, said the accusation has been submitted to the state board in Sacramento, based on a new provision in the state law which specifies that where there is found to be traffic in narcotics operated by a licensee he faces loss of his liquor permit. If narcotics activity is proved, this would allow the board to take action under the public morals and safety code, in addition to the charge of serving minors.

Accidents Range From Poison To Falling On Snake

Six area residents were treated for minor injuries during the past week, in accidents ranging from drinking poison to falling down on a snake.

Craig Wells, 3, and his brother, Geoffrey, 21 months, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wells, 119 Vale street, were treated at Junipero Serra hospital Tuesday after their mother discovered they had consumed a small portion of oxalic acid crystals. Attendants at the hospital pumped out the boys' stomachs, and both were reported in good condition following the incident.

Other persons treated at Junipero Serra for injuries were: Michael Maglin, who was carrying a snake to school in a jar Monday when he fell, breaking the container and lacerating his fingers.

TACHALLI HELD TO ANSWER ON MOLEST COUNTS

Lawrence Tachalli, 29, was held to answer to Superior Court yesterday (Thursday) on two counts of lewd and lascivious conduct involving six-year-old girls.

At preliminary hearing yesterday before Judge Thomas L. Boer's municipal court Tachalli, who lives at 188 Goethe street, San Francisco, reiterated his earlier plea of not guilty on the charges. He is represented by local attorney Melvin Dykman.

Daly City police arrested Tachalli September 25 at the Daly City Theatre, after he had allegedly fondled a six-year-old Daly City girl. According to local police, Tachalli was also involved in an earlier molesting incident at the theatre.

Bail was set yesterday at $2500 cash, $5000 bond. Yesterday Tachalli had not made bail and was being held at the county jail.

National Guard Tells City Council They Need A Home

No place to go.

That's the position the Daly City Vista Grande Platoon, National Guard, finds itself in, that group told the city council Monday night.

The Guard has been using the community center for their weekly training sessions, but the city recreation commission says next Thursday is the last day they will be able to use the facility.

Four representatives of the Vista Grande group appeared before the council Monday to ask use of the north wing of the building, either on a permanent basis or for weekly meetings.

The city denied a lease for the Guard, and also turned down a proposition to give the group sole occupancy of the north wing. The council did, however, indicate that they would refer the Guard's request back to the commission, with the recommendation that the commission do whatever possible for the group.

Drunk Charge Lodged Against Man Found Lying On Sidewalk

Charles H. Hunsperger, 27, of 515 Victory avenue, South San Francisco, will appear in municipal court next Thursday to answer charges of being drunk in a public street.

Daly City police officers August Benassini and James Sunderland said they found the man early Tuesday morning lying face down on the sidewalk in front of Kirchhuber's Tavern on Mission street.

NAME WHITNEY NEW HEAD OF LOCAL POLICE COMMISSION

Ed Whitney is the new chairman of the Daly City police commission, according to a letter received by the council Monday.

The correspondence, sent by the police commission, said that Whitney will serve as chairman for the coming year while Tony Ricci will act as secretary.

During the past year Ricci has been chairman of the group.

Third member of the commission is Victor Bahar.

Leaving Scene Of Auto Accident Is Costly For DC Man

"I hit the truck, what's the difference?" said Sennie Henry Racette, 61, of 299 Westlake avenue, to Officer Charles Terry Monday evening when the policeman stopped him for questioning.

It did make a difference to Officer Terry, and Racette is now out on $250 cash bail on a drunk driving charge. He is scheduled to appear in municipal court next Thursday to answer the charges.

According to Terry, he had responded to an auto accident at 343 Santa Barbara Monday at about 9:30 p.m. Arriving there, Terry said he found Racette backing away from the scene of the mishap. According to Terry, Racette's auto had struck another vehicle, locking bumpers.

In his effort to leave the scene, Racette backed up a distance of nearly 100 feet, Terry said. When Terry attempted to question Racette, it was then he admitted hitting the truck, asking, "What's the difference?"

Observing that Racette was unsteady, Terry escorted him to Junipero Serra hospital for a sobriety test. Results were positive and Racette was booked on the charge Monday.

Petition Asks Signs Be Replaced On Knowles Avenue

A petition containing 110 signatures was entered with the council Monday, asking that arterial stops be restored on Knowles avenue.

Stating that lack of stop signs on the thoroughfare constituted a dangerous traffic hazard for school children attending Woodrow Wilson, the petition said Knowles avenue was becoming a "speedway."

The council recently voted to remove all arterial stops on Knowles, except the one at the Santa Barbara avenue intersection, where most of the school children cross.

The city took the action in order to aid the movement of traffic on Knowles.

The council referred Monday's petition to the police commission for their recommendation.

Bar Patrons Find Themselves In "Strawberry Jam"

One of the alleged combatants called it strawberry jam, but Daly City police officers thought otherwise about the lapel stain early Monday morning as they arrested two local men for being drunk in a public place.

Police officers Dean Wood and Philip La Bruzzo were summoned to 212 School street at 2:25 a.m., where they said they found two men arguing in front of the Silver Moon Bar.

On questioning one man, Ernest John Hilliara, 52, of 170 School street, police said he became belligerent and twice tried to get out of the patrol car after being "invited" in. According to police, he had a red stain on his clothing, which he described as "strawberry jam."

Hilliara said he knew nothing of a fight, but police lodged the drunk charge against him. He pled guilty in municipal court Monday, and was given the alternative of five days in the county jail or a $25 fine.

The other principal in the alleged argument, Larkin Roller, 767 Thornhill drive, Broadmoor, posted $50 bail and is scheduled to appear on the drunk charge next Thursday before Bocci.

Police said Roller was sitting in his vehicle in an intoxicated condition and was incoherent.

State Representative Lauds Library Set-up

Rose Vanstein, library consultant and field representative from the state library, told Daly City's library commission Monday that they were doing an "exceptional job" considering the amount of money they had to work with.

The commission discussed the possibility of revising or replacing the equipment in the interior of the library.

Proposal to open a library annex in the library school was held over for further discussion. The Westlake PTA has asked that they be allowed to establish a library there by soliciting contributions and books themselves.

In sentencing Acevez, Superior Court Judge Murray Draper said, "The defendant is young in years, but old in law violations. He is apparently determined to break the law in any way possible."

Acevez had a prior record of 12 offenses, including arrests for burglary and vagrancy.

The youth pled guilty to charges of possession and sale of narcotics.

In commenting on the case, District Attorney Keith Sorenson has described the Hilltop Lodge "as probably the worst gathering place for hoodlums in San Mateo county," according to a peninsula newspaper.

Riding Bicycles On Sidewalks Seen As Potential Danger

Officials of Henry Doelger, Builder, Inc., this week appealed to the parents of children with bicycles to insist that their children not ride their bikes on the sidewalks in Westlake Shopping Center.

"A real danger to both pedestrians and children exists," a spokesman for the Doelger organization said, "when boys and girls ride their bikes under the marquees and through the Shopping Center arcades. City ordinances prohibit such bicycle riding, and for the protection of all concerned, we are asking parents to warn their children of the danger involved."

Bicycle racks are being put up in the parking area of Westlake Shopping Center, and law enforcement officers have been requested to see that sidewalks are kept clear of bicycle riders.

RECIPROCATION IS IN ORDER

In what came as an unprecedented action in the annals of school district architecture, Mario J. Ciampi, A.I.A., has asked the Jefferson Elementary School district for $3500 in excess of his regular fee because contractor on the Colma school job caused a lengthy delay.

As far as we can see it's the contractor's liability, not the school district's, to sustain any damages arising from a delay in the project. In fact, the school district has already started action to gain $25 a day liquidated damages from the contractor for every day of the nearly one year delay.

Morally, at least according to a somewhat embarrassed formal opinion delivered by the school district attorney's office, the school district is bound to compensate Ciampi for his extra duties occasioned by the delay on the job.

At the same time then, morally, shouldn't the architect be held at least somewhat responsible for forcing the completion of the project without itemizing every incidental expense to his own personal benefit?

Ciampi has served as architect on Jefferson elementary and high school district projects amounting to millions of dollars, and has handled equally expensive jobs for the city of Daly City, all at a commission of approximately eight per cent.

In a community that has been so generous to an architect, we would think some reciprocation might be in order.

My Mad World

By Leonore Brewer

The theory behind taking a vacation is that one returns bright-eyed and restored and the proud possessor of a freshly refurbished viewpoint on the world. Pooh! What with the Community Concert drive and the myriad of activities connected with the opera season, there certainly hasn't been much rest; as for our viewpoint, after spending a fruitless half hour hunting for it under the stacks of opera programs, newspapers and unread magazines that have accumulated during the past three weeks, we finally found it, battered but intact, attached to the announcement of the San Francisco Opera Company's Gala Night at the Opera to be given Saturday, October 16.

This is one of the happiest ideas to come the way of the Opera Company in many a long year, and since a program of this type, presenting the highlights of several operas, is not unknown in European opera houses, one wonders why it has taken until the Thirty-second Season for it to appear in San Francisco.

One of the brightest jewels in what promises to be a dazzling evening will be the presentation of the Cours la Reine scene from Massenet's "Manon." This is the scene containing the ballet which is too seldom given in this country and which Pierre Montoux restored when he came home to conduct the San Francisco Opera Company for the first time in his career.

For this event Lew Christensen, director of the San Francisco Ballet, choreographed a small ballet gem in the style of the 19th Century romantic ballet, with Westlake's own Nancy Johnson alternating with Sally Bailey, and Gordon Paxman and Conrad Ludlow in the principal roles. Coming between the somber Monastery scene from "Forza" and the tragic third act of "Rigoletto" this scene from "Manon" with its enchanting, all too short, ballet will provide the scintillating brilliance which the word gala evokes. After all how can there be a "gala" without ballet?

While on the subject of ballet in opera we hope that Pierre Montoux's including this scene on "Manon" will pave the way for other almost forgotten ballet scenes to be restored in future productions. Too often when cuts have to be made in an opera the first victim of the headsman's axe is the ballet. Along the line of our vacation resolution to have a more flexible viewpoint, we do not insist, as did the Jockey Club in the Paris Opera long ago, that the ballet must come in the second act. Wherever they choose to put it, we'll be quite happy, just so long as it is there.

FISHERMEN SET RECORD

California sport fishermen caught an estimated forty-four million fish in inland waters during 1953 to break all previous records, according to the National Automobile Club. Trout made up approximately fifty per cent of the catch.

LION

By Joseph Bell Jr.

The monthly board of directors meeting was held Monday evening and ten directors and two committee chairmen were present. Many topics were discussed, mainly the dance which will be held on Saturday night, October 16. Lions Ted Weibel and Ray Charette stated the many ideas they have for decorating the community center. Lions Mel Battye and Nate Temkin will handle the sale for beverage tickets. Lion Ray Savage is in complete charge of the refreshments.

Ticket Sales

Ticket sales are going along fairly well but a terrific drive will get under way during the last week. The souvenir is already gone to press and the booklet will consist of twenty five pages of advertisements and Lions Information. As mentioned previously a booklet will be given to each person attending the dance as well as the merchants participating in the advertising. As there will be no car raffie this year the dance will be the only means of raising money to conduct the various activities that are scheduled for the remainder of 1954 is taking all the traffic patrol boys and girls to a football game and giving them a whole day of fun. Another event will be a Christmas party for all the youngsters of the area. Another project the club will undertake this year will be trying to make it a Merry Christmas for the needy families of the Area. At the board meeting Lion Ray Charette was appointed Chairman in charge.

Apout Delegates

Also at the board meeting Lions Vince Murphy and Joe Rohl were appointed as delegates to represent the Daly City Colma Lions club for the League for Better Schools. Also two alternative delegates were appointed—namely Lions Melford Battye and Joseph Bell Jr.

The guest speaker for Wednesday will be the honorable J. Arthur Younger, of the House of Representatives and his subject will be "Washington Reports." On October 20 the weekly meeting will be dedicated to United Nations Week. Lion Ted Weibel has four children from the Colma school speaking on the United Nations.

At the board meeting a motion was made and passed unanimously to send President Bell, Secretary Neville, and Zone Chairman Walt Rector to the dinner at the Fairmont Hotel Monday evening in honor of Lions International President Monroe L. Nute who will be in the bay area this weekend for a board of directors meeting of Lions International. This is a formal affair and the wives will accompany the Lions attending.

Library News

Two members of the Daly City Library staff will attend the California Library Conference which will be held in Longbeach, Calif., October 12-16. Special programs have been planned by the conference committee which will include discussions and workshops. Of special interest to Mrs. Rolland and Mrs. Plummer who will represent the Daly City Library, will be the Public Libraries Section and the Library Work With Boys and Girls Section. Principal speakers at the general sessions will be Dr. Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the California Teachers' Association, and Dr. Frank C. Baxter, Professor of English Literature at U.S.C.

Recent Visitor

A recent visitor to the Daly City Library was Miss Rose Vainstein, field representative and library consultant from the California State Library in Sacramento. Miss Vainstein is assisting the staff and the library commission in their plans for purchase of new shelving as well as plans for a reorganizing of the library to utilize all available space. Extremely crowded conditions in shelving now exist, and plans are underway to improve this situation.

Once again the Library Executive of Central California are sponsoring the excellent book reviewing program "The Family Reads" with the Bartletts. The program will be heard on Station KCBS, 740 on your radio dial, Sundays at 10 a.m. It is a very interesting and informal program, and the Bartletts review many of the new as well as the older titles, covering fiction and non-fiction alike. On last week's program, Mr. Bartlett discussed among others Harriette Simpson Arnow's latest book, "The Dollmaker," which tells the poignant story of a woman of the Kentucky hills who is a discerning, sensitive, courageous individual. She is also endowed with the gift of carving, the creative power to shape true figures from wood. She wrenches herself from the Kentucky earth to join her husband in his war-time job in Detroit, and the remaining four fifths of the novel is a merciless portrayal of the impact of the city upon the family. Here is certainly a book which is worth reading, and it is available at the library. Listen to the Family Reads, and become more familiar with other books and services which your public library offers you.

New Books

Some of the newer titles include: Faulkner, The Fable; Jersild, Child Psychology, 4th Edition; Stevenson, Call To Greatness; Laski, The Victorian Chaise Lounge; Vale, Modern Automotive Engine Repair; Street, Goodbye My Lady; Soubrain, The Healing Oath; Jennings, Banners Against the Wind; Karig, Don't Tread On Me; Cadell, The Cuckoo In Spring; Previte, Shorter Cambridge Medieval History; Bates, Feast of July; Best, Diane; Leitch, They Ran For Their Lives; Leitch, The Rebel Yell; Goodwin, The Animal Kingdom (3 vols.); Terry, Buccaneer Surgeon; Weinreb, The Sorcerer; Steinberg, The Statesman's Year Book; Philbrick, I Led Three Lives; Vallentin, The Drama of Albert Einstein; St. John, Through Malan's Africa; Newman, Report On Indo China; Mann, Doctors Are People; Bristol, TNT, The Power Within You; How To Release the Forces Inside You and Get What You Want.

But today I'm rebelling. Assignments are all very well, for a writer must eat and pay rent and buy shoes for junior, and assignments are practically a guarantee that the story will be paid for. And printed. Getting it printed is as important for me as getting paid for it. More important, if the words have come out nicely, in good rhythm, and I've been able to say what I wanted.

But on these assignments I have to censor myself. I think of a good thought and frame it in good words and write it down and then I read it and realize the editors won't like it. So I "xxx" it out. And put something else down. This something else is not exactly what I mean. But it will please the editors and bring in the check. And a writer needs checks so he can keep on writing. Eventually however you reach a point of diminishing returns. You write for a check so you can keep on writing but if what you are writing doesn't give you pleasure, then you would be better off digging ditches for the check. Digging ditches may not give you pleasure either. But at least when you finish you have a ditch and you can say, "Look, see this ditch? I dug it myself."

You Don't Mean

And if you've written something you didn't mean, it is no pleasure to say, "Look, I wrote this. What do you think of it?" So today I'm rebelling.

I was assigned to write a story about a huge corporation. It was a sacred cow, which means that I mustn't write anything bad about the corporation. It performs a function, a useful function, so I thought there ought to be some good things I could say about it. I agreed to get the story and write it.

From the beginning everything went wrong. I started out by phoning the publicity man, to make an appointment and let him tell me all the good things about his company. He wasn't in.

I asked for his assistant. She was on vacation. The sales manager? He was in conference. The production chief? Out of town.

Can't Talk
His assistant? Assistants can't talk for publication. How about the big boss, the general manager. He couldn't come to the phone but if I could leave my number, his secretary would call me back.

SWEETNESS & LIGHT

It is tough on a writer to get a reputation as a sweetness and light man. Particularly if you happen to be of a cantankerous and somewhat critical temperament.

That's the position I'm in with one set of editors. Because I once wrote a series of light fluffy articles for them, these Simon Legrees assume that it comes natural for me to ooze the milk of human kindness. Whereas the truth is that only certain subjects, written about at certain times, strike that chord in me.

The editors of this anonymous magazine persist in giving me assignments accompanied by injunctions to "Make it humorous. Make it enthralling. Give it that loveable touch. You know what we want."

Positive Approach

Yes, I know what they want. The positive approach. Keep it to the benevolent beam.

But today I'm rebelling. Assignments are all very well, for a writer must eat and pay rent and buy shoes for junior, and assignments are practically a guarantee that the story will be paid for. She did call back, finally, and I made an appointment to see the boss early next morning.

The next morning my temperamental old car developed a clogged gas line. By the time I got to the plant, a towering structure in the smog belt of East Los Angeles, I was nearly an hour late.

There were uniformed guards at the entrance and signs saying you needed a pass to ride the elevators. I convinced the guard I had an appointment with the superintendent, was given a pass, and ascended into the stately purlieus of management.

The manager's secretary greeted me with a frosty smile. She was a maiden lady with false teeth, frizzly gray hair and a bilious complexion. She was so sorry I had missed my appointment. The manager would be tied up now for the rest of the day.

Could I pick up a copy of the annual report while I was there? She was sorry but the manager would have to give it to me. I pointed out that it was on her desk with my name clipped to it, waiting for me. She flushed and stammered and put it in a drawer.

Just A Minute
I rose and walked toward the inner door, remarking that I'd just take a minute of the manager's time to let him know I'd arrived and ask if I could study the report pending another appointment.

The old girl had a mild attack of hysterics. She jumped up, scattering papers on the floor. Tremblingly she said she had worked for the manager for twenty years and nobody had ever tried to walk past her like this. I assured her that I didn't want her to lose her job but that since I had made the trip out there it seemed logical that I should at least pick up the annual report, that it would save her the trouble of mailing it to me. She gave me the booklet. I said thank you. She didn't reply. She acted as if we had been fighting and I had won by violating the rules.

Eschewing the elevators, for I no longer had my pass, I took the stairs down to the next floor and looked around. The place was a beehive. Stern notices telling the employees to do this and to refrain from doing that were posted at frequent intervals.

Browbeaten Workers
The workers looked browbeaten. Some were lethargic and resigned, some were nervous and jittery.

I talked with a good-looking girl who told me there were 3,000 employees in the building. She apologized for not having time to talk longer but she was on her way to the restroom and they clocked her. I asked questions of several men. They referred me to their supervisors. A supervisor said the only one who could give information (Continued on Page 4)

YOUR NEIGHBORS AND MINE

By Betty Brush

Hello Neighbors:

Well, September has left us and now October with its Indian Summer and holidays is bringing us much to read about. Some of the folks are still arriving home from vacations and many are moving to new homes.

Arriving home aboard the S.S. Lurline after a three week vacation spent in the Islands were MR. and MRS. HARRY HUTCHINGS and son HARRY JR. On hand to greet them were MR. and MRS. EDWARD BRUGGE of San Carlos who is the business partner of Mr. Hutchings. While there is never quite as much excitement at a homecoming as there is at a sailing, all those who attended the going away party at which MR. and MRS. BRUGGE were host and hostess for the Hutchings family know that the Brugges were really glad to see the Hutchings again.

Some of our old friends and neighbors will celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary today. Many of the old timers, among whom I am one, will remember PHIL & HELEN SELBY who used to have the little store on Los Olivos avenue for so many years. All the best wishes to a grand couple are wished by all the folks on this and many more anniversaries to come.

Items of Interest

Another of my friends has grown up and is now the proud mother of a new baby girl. MR. and MRS. ROBERT HARPER, the former MARY STONE of Theta avenue, presented our town with its newest citizen last Saturday. The young lady had not been named as yet but that will soon be remedied. Congratulations to the Harpers on their new baby.

"Welcome the hunter home from the hills." One of the most avid of hunters and one who hasn't had too much luck lately is our neighbor ROY COMBS of Los Banos avenue. His luck has really changed. He left along with about half of the male population a week ago when the season opened and on the first day he hit the jackpot. On the opening day he got his deer which was a five pointer weighing 220 lbs. when dressed. I don't know much about deer but that sounds mighty big to me. The only thing is that wife Alice says now she will never be able to keep him home.

On September 23rd the Catholic Daughters of America had their Birthday dinner at Grant's Restaurant. As with all doings of this very active organization there were about 35 people there including their Chaplain, Father Norman Allen of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church. The next day the ladies feeling full of vim, vigor and vitality made a trip to the Crystal Springs Home for the Aged where they spent the day playing bingo with the ladies and having refreshments. Among the ladies who made the trip were Mesdames DOROTHY STEWART, MARGARET O'SULLIVAN, PAULINE DE FANT, ELEANOR VENOL, BETH POWERS and LILLIAN WETTSTEIN. It would be hard to say who really had the most fun—the visitors or the visited.

The Eagles Auxiliary No. 1448 are really planning a gala night. It will be a birthday party for the Auxiliary baby who happens to be MISS KATHY BRUSH, daughter of the Allen Brugges of Winchester avenue. This is the sixth birthday party which Kathy has been the hostess of, and a cuter one you never did see. A happy birthday to the Eagle's Baby from all the folks.

A baby shower was given in honor of MRS. JOSEPHINE HETTEL by her sister MRS. LOUISE CARR. Among the home town folks present were Mesdames MILDRED SIMS, DOROTHY McINERNEY, MARIE McKAY (Mrs. Hettel's mother), and MISS LESLIE LINHARES. After an evening spent opening and admiring all the many beautiful gifts for the newcomer the ladies adjourned for refreshments and found the tables most beautifully decorated in the appropriate motif for the occasion.

This is a belated report on a birthday but it just has to get in somehow. Our friend and neighbor MAMA LOMBARD of Los Banos avenue celebrated her 81st birthday on September 15th. I knew it was around there some place but just recently found out the date. She was the guest of honor at a family dinner attended of course by daughter MRS. MADELINE FELLOWS and son-in-law HORACE. Also on hand to greet Grandma were MR. KENNETH FELLOWS and family who came down from Sacramento for the occasion and MR. and MRS. BUD FELLOWS and MRS. HILL. All really enjoyed the day but none more than MAMA LOMBARD. All the happiness for many more years are wished a grand lady by all the neighbors who have known and loved her for so long.

Servicemen

Another of the youngsters whom I have known since he was a baby has joined the service. PAUL THOMAS LEEVER is now A/3c in the U. S. Air Force. At the present time he is at Chanute Field, Illinois, and studying to be a jet mechanic. Many of the folks will remember Paul as he used to live on Los Olivos avenue and is one of the grandsons of the Phil Selbys.

Had news of my friend A/3c MAC McDONNELL of the U. S. Air Force who is on his way home from Johnston Island where he has spent the last year. The next big step in this young man's life will be his wedding which will be on October 16th. I would really like to be there but as it will take place in Washington I'm afraid I'll have to wait for the details to reach us by mail.

A/3c EDWARD F. HARPER of the U. S. Air Force, in Nagoya, Japan, was another of the fellows who was heard from this week. The weather is cooling off a bit there much to his delight and he also missed the hurricane. He is still waiting to hear from some of the folks. He did get a letter from one of his classmates at Our Lady of Perpetual Help school and he hopes to hear from any and all who care to write. I have his APO so just call me if you want it.

Wedding plans are in the making for Staff Sgt. PAUL A. MITCHELL of the U. S. Army. Many of his buddies will be overseas and won't be able to attend but Paul who has been to Korea and back is sure they won't want him to wait for them. The wedding will take place the first part of next month and more of that later.

Items of Interest

MRS. CLAIRE CLARK of Knowles avenue was hostess at a luncheon in honor of MRS. JOSEPHINE HETTEL on Saturday of last week. There was really no special reason for the luncheon, just a get-together of friends for a good time. Among the ladies who enjoyed the day were Mesdames ISABELLE LIBERTI, DOROTHY STEWART, MILDRED SIMS, MILDRED BARTON, HAZEL SULLIVAN and MISS LESLIE LINHARES.

Among the neighbors who are still traveling is MR. ALBERT SIDELLE of Abbott street. His is not such a pleasant journey though as he has left for Winnipeg, Canada, to visit his mother who is very ill. I hope along with all the folks that by the time this is read that she is much improved. More travelers. MR. and MRS. GEORGE BOWEN and family have just returned from their holidays spent at Clear Lake Highland where they had the grandest time motor boating. They just couldn't get time enough for all they wanted to do.

Another of the neighbors who went hunting brought home his deer. MR. JAMES WALL of Abbott street was lucky enough or as they would say expert enough to get the big one. MRS. WALL isn't among those who like to go hunting so she spent the weekend in Walnut Creek visiting her family while he was away.

MRS. SALLY BOWEN of San Diego avenue has just returned home from her vacation which was spent in Mountain View. She had a grand time with her daughter, MRS. DOLORES MAZOUZ, and really enjoyed the two weeks which seemed to go so fast.

The JOHN ORNELLI family of Abbott street are really happy folks now. They welcomed home their husband and father JOHN who had been in Los Angeles for two weeks on a business trip. Men are funny critters—we always think we can do without them but just let them go away and we really find out how much they are missed.

Another young lady had a birthday last week. MISS JERILYN VICKERS of Abbott street has reached the advanced age of twelve years and took the occasion to have a party. Of course there was the very necessary ice cream and cake and present from all her friends who came to wish her many happy birthdays. The same from all of us too, Jerilyn, and many more.

Folks are still taking off on weekends. MR. and MRS. BUD KIRBY took off for a weekend at their cabin in La Honda. Naturally youngsters JOHNNIE & STEVE went along to get in the last of the summer sun. It's getting a little cool there now so one really knows that summer has really left us for sure.

There are compliments and compliments but when one has a letter to prove it that is really something. Of course all the neighbors have known it for a good number of years but just never got around to saying much about it. Co. No. 4, Fire Department, had a dinner not too long ago and of course they needed the main course—meat. They purchased it from "QUINT" of the Spring Valley Market and this is what the letter they wrote him has to say. "May I say that this was the finest meat we ever had and the gang voted you the best butcher in town." — signed A. J. BODIEN. "Nuff said."

Sometimes it is hard to reconcile ourselves to the choice of a profession by our children. After all aren't they just kids yet? Many of us have at one time or another felt that way. Time has a way of proving just how right the kids were. MR. and MRS. A. LIBERTI took a trip to see daughter JUDY who is a novice in the Convent of the Presentation in Oakland and they came home quite content and happy in the fact that Judy is most happy. There was such an air about her that seemed so much like the old Judy yet more sedate and mature that they came away feeling very happy not only for her but for themselves too.

Well, folks, this is it for another week. Hope all of you have lots of things about the rest of us can hear about them. Remember the phone is PL. 5-6482 and I am home but definitely. Until next week then I'll be waiting to hear from you. "Bye now."

Which is the safer for the motorist, city driving or country driving? The California State Automobile says you're safer in the city. Traffic fatalities on rural roads run about two and a half times as many every year as those in cities. The reverse, however, is true where pedestrians are involved. In that category, about twice as many persons lose their lives in cities as in the country.

was the general manager. He offered to phone the manager's secretary for an appointment and I explained that I had missed one appointment already.

I prowled up and down the stairs taking notes until inadvertently I hit the ground floor again. Not wanting to go through the rigamarole of getting another pass, I called it a day.

Now I have my notes and the annual report. It shows a nice profit for the stockholders. And if I want I can phone the manager and get more information. But this is one assignment I'm not going to write.

It's A Disgrace

I don't feel like saying that this company is a credit to the city and the state and the nation. I think it is more likely a disgrace. It struck me as a machine geared to grab human beings and chew them up into nearly unrecognizable mechanical men. It is a massive machine and people like to read about bigness. They think when the writer says something is big he is praising it. I could go into detail about its size and make the editor happy, provided I used the light touch.

But I'm going to skip it because I wouldn't enjoy reading it.

In a little while I'll phone the editor and apologize. I'll tell him the transmission fell out of my car, or something like that, and I won't be able to get out to the plant for the next month. It won't be a black lie for the transmission is liable to fall out at any moment, the way it sounds. And by next month I may want another assignment.

"OVERWHELMED" IS REACTION OF RUSSO FAMILY

"Overwhelmed."

That's the way Ray and Jerry Russo described their reactions to the sympathy and aid shown them by the organizations and citizens of Broadmoor and Westlake following the September 20 fire that left the Russos and their six children homeless.

The Russo home at 720 87th street was almost completely destroyed in the fire, and all the family furniture and clothing was consumed in the blaze.

Civic organizations and citizens in the Broadmoor and Westlake areas rallied immediately to the aid of the Russo family, providing funds and clothing through campaigns that sprung up overnight.

In a letter to the TIMES the Russo family said, "We cannot begin to extend our thanks and good feeling toward the Broadmoor police and fire departments and other organizations and people in this area. Only living here three weeks, we were overwhelmed at the charity and neighborliness shown us by the community."

The letter was signed, "Ray, Jerry, Gary, Bruce, Danny, Billy, Marlene and Nicky Russo."

Presently the family is staying at a home in Winston Manor, provided by a friend.

Reconstruction work on the gutted residence on 87th street in Broadmoor is scheduled to be completed in about six weeks.

"I can't wait to get back to Broadmoor," said Mrs. Russo.

Men between the ages of 21 and 35 interested in working two nights a month for the community have been asked to contact Steele, 171 East Vista avenue, Daily City, at PL. 5-5208, before Thursday, October 14, regarding an organizational meeting.

TWO FORFEIT BAIL ON DRUNK CHARGES

Two local residents forfeited $25 bail each for failure to appear in Judge Thomas L. Bocci's municipal court Tuesday.

Both had been charged with being drunk in a public place.

They were: Mrs. Anna Newell, 110 Village Lane, Broadmoor, who was picked up Sept. 28 in front of 212 School street; and Fausto Casuga, Isleton, Calif., who was arrested September 30 in front of 6454 Mission street.

Concert Group Thanks All For Helping Hand

To the Editor and Staff: As everyone now knows, the Community Concert Drive has been a success, with three concerts assured. However, this success was achieved only through the tireless efforts of everyone involved: the officers, the division chairmen and the countless volunteer workers, all of whom were willing to devote time and thought and energy to bringing fine music to the local area.

In addition to the above, mention should be made of the Westlake Floral Shop who were kind enough to give the flowers for the decoration of the tables at the dinner. We are also deeply appreciative of the cooperation of the Westlake Fashion Shop which permitted us to use space in their shop during our week's campaign. And we mustn't forget the many merchants in Daly City who gave us space in their windows for our campaign posters. We would like to thank everyone personally, but that is a physical impossibility. They will receive their thanks when the concerts are given, concerts which could not have been possible without their aid.

Nor should we forget the editor and staff of THE RECORD whose patience and generosity in the matter of space through the long weeks of preparation for this campaign has resulted in this cultural gain for Daly City.

Sincerely,
Thos. E. Brewer, President

Read Luke 23:39-43.
No man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 14:6.)

Recently a young man came to see me. Holding out his New Testament, he said earnestly, "From where should I read to find peace and rest? I cannot sleep for my sins. The Lord is far from me; I cannot get nearer to Him." I showed him the text, "I am the way . . ." and other texts about forgiveness through Christ.

We prayed together. He prayed: "Thank You, Lord. You have prepared the way. Even to me You give permission to walk in it. Thank You. Help me to walk with You and to help others to walk."

Before he left, he said, "Thank you. You have shown me the way; I have rest now."

Without Christ, can man come to God as loving Father? No, never. Jesus shows us the only way to God as Father, when He says, "I am the way, the truth, and the life." He takes us to the Father. He opens our eyes to know Him. He makes it possible for us to enjoy living with God because of the life He gives us. Therefore, Christ says, "I am the way . . . no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

PRAYER

Heavenly Father help us to love Thy way; to Jesus Christ, our way to Thee, and Thy way to us. In this love, let us live, yet not us; let Christ in us, the Christ who has taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

I will help someone to Christ today.

MORE THAN 200 ATTEND FIRST FLOWER SHOW

DC Garden Club Terms Event Success

The first annual Flower Show of the Daly City Garden Club, held at the Community Center Sunday, was considered to be one of the finest endeavors of this group that has yet been presented. Bernice Yohn, president, and Mr. Clair Yohn were commended for working out the infinite details involved in a flower show.

Surprised guests arriving for the show Sunday found the unfinished wing of the Center had been transformed into a tropical garden, with large trees flanking the exposed steel columns in a neat camouflage. Scores of blossoming plants standards of fuchsia and begonia combined with displays and flower arrangements of every conceivable kind lent color and atmosphere. Well planned and integrated with much variety, the show offered every phase of flower art.

Amateur Sections

Of the three amateur sections, perhaps the theme arrangements, which included the twelve months of the year created the most interest—with potted plants and specimen flowers well represented.

On hand as Flower Show Counselor was Mrs. Therese Ferrero, who is well known all over the bay area for her delicate and versatile floral designs. Mrs. Ferrero who formerly conducted classes in flower arrangement at Jefferson high school was joined by graduates of S. F. judging school, Messames D. V. Nicholson, V. Pinkney, H. Koch and B. Walker, who acted in the capacity of judges.

Upsetting all precedent was the work of two young teenagers, Carl Olgiaiti and Gary Von Nostitz. Not only did these two enter almost every class, but they stole the show with their talent and enthusiasm and walked off with several awards apiece—to the complete satisfaction of the competing exhibitors. Olgiaiti's May Pole novelty with little fuchsia figures won for him a coveted first, while Gary Von Nostitz also received an award for his lovely arrangement of yellow mums.

New Year's Fantasy

A "New Year's" fantasy earned a first for Mrs. R. A. Garay, who also won other awards. The popularity of dried materials was evidenced by the many entries in this section. However, Norma Boyle won out with a vertical arrangement in a polished old wooden urn. Honorable mention was forthcoming for Evelyn Goldkluft and several complimentary efforts done by Anne Ingersoll.

Broadmoor Youth Association Offers Bouts On October 16

The finest exhibition of boxing ever held in the Daly City area, famous for its fights, is the description afforded the forthcoming bouts sponsored by the Broadmoor Youth association, to be held in the Garden Village school on Saturday, October 16, according to President Bob Goodwin.

Chairman of the event, Ross Hilton, has been fortunate enough to obtain the All Hallows Boxing Team, famous TV fight aggregation, under the direction of Coach "Corky" Thorsen, former State Champion, who has arranged for a series of ten bouts.

The exhibition, the first of many events planned by the BYA, promises to keep the public on the edge of their seats the whole evening, the association said. Refreshments will be served.

Ducks May Be Late For Waterfowl Opener

SACRAMENTO — When it comes, the 1954 fall duck flight should be at least as good as last year's the Department of Fish and Game reports. But shooting may be spotty for the waterfowl season opener October 9.

A late hatch on the Canadian and Alaskan breeding grounds coupled with "bluebird" fall weather in California, may make the birds' arrival as much as two or three weeks later than usual.

Birds are reported moving into the northernmost parts of the state, but a recent survey of the Central Valley area showed duck populations to still be about 20 per cent below last year's figures.

California waterfowl gunners will have a 72-split season, with the first period running from October 9 to November 13 and the second from December 6 to January 10. This is an increase of four days over 1953.

One less duck may be taken this year, with the limit on quackers set at seven, plus three "bonus" sprig or widgeon. The goose limit will be six, to include not more than three of the dark species. No Ross's geese may be taken. Bag limit for coots is 25.

Shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on opening days when shooting will begin at noon.

Eleven public shooting areas will be operated by the Department of Fish and Game, with permits issued by a lottery drawing system. Delayed openings are scheduled for some of these areas because of local crop depredation conditions.

Department Prepared For Duck Depredation

Department of Fish and Game wardens and other field men are in close contact with ranchers in the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys so that action can be taken as soon as serious duck depredation situations arise.

They have reported that to date there have been no serious situations in either valley, although some herding is being done by ranchers.

Department game management officials report the feeding program is working out very well, and that waterfowl management areas are attracting hundreds of thousands of waterfowl. For example, an estimated 100,000 birds were on the Grizzly Island area last week, and others had sizeable numbers.

Ample supplies of water appear available for management areas to combat depredation problems.

THE OUTDOORS

Catchable Trout Plant Nearly Completed For '54

Only 300,000 catchable sized trout, all of them in southern California hatcheries, remain to be planted this season, with planting operations scheduled to close down early in October.

August plantings of catchables totaled 1,370,000 for the highest single month plant yet. The previous high was in July of this year with 1,209,000.

During August 2,500,000 fingerlings were planted, most of them by airplane in high Sierra mountain lakes.

The record plant of catchables represents a 42 per cent increase over the same month last year, and reflects production from new hatcheries built from Wildlife Conservation Board funds.

Shipments of these materials came from out-dated supplies of the Defense Department.

Regional officials said that the supply of pyrotechnics to combat duck depredations appears to be sufficient for the year barring any unusual migrations into the valleys.

Ranchers have reported success with a new carbide gun, which is available from private sources. Each gun is effective for about 40 acres.

The Department asks ranchers to contact wardens immediately if a depredation situation appears serious. Wardens are making distribution of pyrotechnic materials furnished by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Younger Says War To Peace Economy Change Disrupting

"A change-over from war-time to peace-time economy is bound to cause some dislocation, especially in areas where war-time industries have been concentrated," Congressman Art Younger told three Daly City area committees working for his reelection when they met last week at the homes of Mrs. Lyl Ingersoll, 439 Crocker street, Daly City, Mrs. Carlton Read, 828 Beechwood, Broadmoor Village and Mrs. Robert Martini, 172 Westbrook, Westlake.

SAN DIEGO TESTS SF GATORS HERE TONIGHT

Area residents will be treated to big time football thrills tonight (Friday) at Cox Stadium when Coach Joe Verducci's San Francisco State College Gators collide with a powerful San Diego State Aztec, in what could prove the most important game on State's schedule this year.

Should the Gators get by this one, enough confidence may be instilled to carry them through the rest of a tough slate.

While State is thus far undefeated in three games and San Diego has dropped its only two encounters, this is no indication of the relative strengths of the two teams.

The Gators have played only one formidable opponent in Nevada University, though they had no trouble, while the Aztecs have dropped their games to powerhouses New Mexico and Cal Poly. In this case, records mean nothing. State will pit a fine varied attack against San Diego's great ground game. The Gators offer several fine scat backs, including the Bremmond brothers, Harry and Walt, along with tiny Dick Nave. To compliment these little men, Verducci has big, swift men in Bob Rodrigo and Jim Boggan.

If the running backs down, then quarterback Hoot Ellis can pitch to a trio of fine ends, Little Al Coast, man George Wehner and Dick Galiani and Bob Barron.

While the Gators will be hard to stop, the same holds true for San Diego. Pinwheel of the Aztec rushing game is Norm Nygaard, already said to be the second draft choice of the L. A. Rams in next year's pro grab-bag.

Assisting Nygaard, among others, will be Marshall Malcolm, good enough on his own hook to outshine Nygaard.

There will be free parking facilities for 2500 cars just adjacent to the football field. Game time is scheduled for 8 p.m.

CREIGHTON TWIRLS NO HIT -- NO RUN TILT

Lowell Creighton racked up the first no-hit, no-run game for Westlake Homes as he shackled Syl's Service, 9-0, in a contest held Saturday at Graham field.

Creighton gave up only four walks in fashioning the perfect game.

Art Von Wronski and Ed McCarthy paced Westlake hitting with two apiece.

Sunday found the Westlakers on the losing end, as they were turned back by Sarto A.C., 3-2, in a game held at Marchbanks park.

Rich Coburn twirled for Sarto, holding the Homes nine to three hits.

The Sarto Club nicked Westlake chucker Bob Raphael for nine safeties.

Coburn Pitches AC To 3-2 Victory Over Westlake Nine

Ron Coburn, twirling a tight three-hitter and aided by three timely double plays, gained a 3-2 win for Sarto A.C. Sunday over Westlake Homes.

Clutch hitting by Don Castro and Manuel Romero were instrumental in scoring Sarto's three runs.

In winning, Coburn struck out seven batters, walked five.

Sarto's have now entered the Peninsula Winter league and are expected to make a strong showing in the circuit.

Acc Lowell Creighton of Jefferson High will toss for Sarto in their opening league game.

Last week Creighton pitched a four-hitter to give Sarto a 5-3 victory over the Hilltoppers, a group of USP players.

Creighton struck out eight batters and allowed only one walk.

Jeffs Lose Honeywell Again; Open League Play Tonight

Still smarting from a 31-0 humiliation at the hands of Serra, Friday, Jefferson High school's varsity eleven suffered another setback Tuesday when Halfback Jim Honeywell re-injured a sprained ankle.

The situation stands today as it did a week ago. Going into their first PAL game tonight (Friday) against powerhouse San Mateo at Burlingame field, it is doubtful whether Honeywell will see any action.

Second Injury.

The veteran back first injured the ankle a week ago Monday, and was out of the Serra game, a factor which Coach Joe McGrath says is partially responsible for the Jeffs' lopsided loss to the Serra Padres.

Halfback Del Hamann, who saw only limited service Friday, also because of a sprained ankle, will probably be at full strength today, which should help the Indians cause some.

Gus Triandos, Jefferson's first string defensive tackle, is out for the season after receiving a broken leg in the Serra contest.

In other words, things look pretty grim for McGrath today as he awaits a contest with the team that is billed as tops in the Peninsula Athletic league.

It will be up to Tackles Harry Sampson and Al Figone and Guard Rich Guisti to stop the crunching Bearcat offensive machine tonight.

Strong Backfield

The Mateo backfield, staffed by second string All-PAL quarterback Bucky Kahler and swift, shifty half Ken Iketa, is versatile and powerful. Last week San Mateo, in a practice game, turned back a good Palo Alto club, 25-14.

In last week's game McGrath wasn't given an inkling of where his offensive power lies, since his charges were held to a minus two yards on the ground, eight yards in the air.

Tonight McGrath will take a travelling squad of 30 players to the Burlingame field.

CENTER BOXING PROGRAM IS BEING RESUMED

Advanced, Beginner Sessions To Be Held

The Community Center boxing program which enjoyed such tremendous success during the summer is being resumed this week at the War Memorial Building.

The current program has been carefully and extensively planned so that every age group may derive full benefit from the excellent boxing facilities at the center.

Monday evening, 7 to 9 p.m., the boxing program will be devoted exclusively to youngsters in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades. Emphasis with this group will be on elementary fundamentals and individual defense. Instruction for this group will be on a class basis. The recreation department, which is sponsoring the program, will conduct a sign up for the class as it will be necessary to limit the class to 50 youngsters.

On Tuesday and Thursday evenings, high school youngsters and advanced boxers are invited to join the program. This group will learn, in addition to the elementary fundamentals, ring strategy, and the importance of training. Individual instruction will be provided for this group. Jim Boggan, star San Francisco State half back and Frank Ingersoll will act as instructors. The entire program will start on Monday.

SAN MATEO COLLEGE OPENS GRID LEAGUE PLAY SATURDAY NITE

College of San Mateo faces West Contra Costa Saturday evening on the Burlingame High school gridiron to open the Big Seven Conference schedule. Game time is eight o'clock. West Contra Costa is the defending champion.

San Mateo opened its football season in fine fashion last Saturday by defeating Orange Coast College 19-7. The Mateos flew south for the game and before returning Sunday night enjoyed a boat ride around Balboa Harbor and also took in the Ram-49er game in Los Angeles.

For San Mateo Dick Devenenzi, veteran half, scored two of the touchdowns, one on a 75-yard punt return and one on a pass and long run. Bob Rodriguez, end, scored the third touchdown on a pass play. Butch Mariani, Mateo quarter, completed nearly three-fourths of his passes. San Mateo found that its strong line could bottle up most of the Orange Coast line plays.

REC GRID LEAGUE TO OPEN

Elementary Circuit Has Three Divisions

Commencing Saturday the Daly City recreation department will kickoff the annual Elementary School Football league. The league is to be exclusively touch football and will consist of three divisions: Classes A, B, and C. Class A (Senior Division) will be for those youngsters in the 8th grade. Class B for the 7th grade and Class C for the 6th grade.

At this writing, teams from schools in the Jefferson Elementary School District have entered under the direction of the recreation department supervisor. The newly formed league is being groomed as a major activity for the coming fall season.

All games are to be played at Marchbanks Park on Saturday. The starting times are currently being planned for 9:30 a.m. until the final organization of the league which will take place in the second week of play.

Due to the World Series the Daly City recreation department postponed the opening of the season until tomorrow.

McCool Returns To Local Gridiron Scene

Pat McCool, former Jefferson High school gridiron great, Class of '51, will return to the local football scene tomorrow (Saturday) as Navy meets Stanford on the Cards campus.

McCool is a second string tackle with the Navy squad, has not been sufficient interest shown to date to conduct the tournament.

JEFF CAGERS LEAD BOTH PAL LEAGUES

Jefferson High school's lightweight basketball teams scored a double win over San Mateo here Tuesday to remain undefeated in both leagues.

Coach Mike Orlich's 20s lead all the way to defeat the Mateos, 38-33, as Center Len Hintermann poured through 15 markers. Forward Wally King added another 11 for the Indian cause.

The local 10s piled up a 25-9 margin in the first half and went on to swamp the Bearcats, 40-24.

Andy Ruelas, guard, and Puzzy Firth, forward, notched 8 and 6 points, respectively for the Jeffs.

In Thursday's action, the local clubs made it another twin killing over Burlingame.

Ray Diez, with 8 points, led the Indian 10s to a 30-14 win over the Panthers, as Orlich poured 14 players into the lopsided fray.

The 20s, with Hintermann hitting for 16, had it fairly easy in scoring a 33-27 victory over the Burlingame five. George Rocchi tallied 7 for the winners.

Going into yesterday's (Thursday) play at Half Moon Bay, both Jeff squads have 3-0 win marks.
